Gemini 10 Proclaimed Successful

Only Year Ago,
Such Feats Were Thought Impossible

From Associated Press
The Gemini 10 space flight, due to end this afternoon, has already been proclaimed one of the most successful space adventures ever conducted by the United States.

John and Mike performed magnificently," Flight Director Glynn Lunney said of astronauts John W. Young and Michael Collins.

"This mission is one of the most rewarding we've ever flown," Lunney added.

Command pilot Young, a Navy Commander and space-walker Collins, an Air Force major, planned to trigger the retro-rockets on their fuel-short spacecraft at 3:31 p.m. EST to start a fiery descent.

The landing in the Atlantic about 550 miles east southeast of Cape Kennedy was timed for 4:07 p.m.

A recovery force of ships and planes headed by the helicopter aircraft carrier Guadalcanal was stationed in the planned landing zone, where weather conditions were reported good.

Until the re-entry, the astronauts were to drift through space, conserving their precious remaining fuel and conducting whatever photographic and scientific experiments they could.

They were ready to come home after three days aloft. In that period they had had the hatch open three times — twice for Collins' business outside and once to jettison items no longer needed.

Discussing that Wednesday night, Young commented: "We'd like to try for five — on the water. One on the left side, one on the right — no more, thank you."

SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT
Despite problems that forced Collins to cut short two space excursions, the flight of Gemini 10 was rated one of the best U.S. man-in-space trips yet.

John and Mike performed magnificently," Lunney said Gemini 10 proved the feasibility of rendezvous with both an active and a passive satellite — the Agena 10 and the Agena 8; that man can survive outside a spacecraft, and that a manned satellite can dock with a fuel tanker in space for long periods and use its engine for maneuvering.

Navy Cmdr. Alan L. Bean, a Gemini 10 backup pilot, told newsmen the rendezvous with the lifeless Agena 8 was the most significant achievement.

"A year ago," Bean said, "we thought it was impossible to rendezvous with something that was moving."

Guardsmen, Police Fire Into Auto

Driver Defied
Officers—Others
Become Victims

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Five persons were wounded early today, including a teenage Negro mother and her two children, as police and troops fired on a car near the scene of a fire which destroyed a dance hall and skating rink in Cleveland, Ohio.

The scene was near a section which has been wrecked by rioting since Monday night.

One of the wounded was a 7-month-old baby. The shooting started when the driver refused to get out of the car and tried to speed off, a Guard spokesman said.

The gunfire climaxed a night of widely scattered fire bombings and vandalism — sporadic disorders following the rioting Monday and Tuesday night that left two Negroes shot to death.

Wounded seriously were 4-year-old Christopher Green, shot in the back of the head, and his mother, Diane Towns, 16, hit in the face and shoulder. The boy was in surgery.

The hospital reported that another child, Emmanuel Towns, 7 months, nicked on the neck and only slightly hurt. The hospital listed the young woman as the mother of both children.

Shot in the right leg was Ernest Williams, 12, brother of Mrs. Towns.

A ricochet wounded guard Capt. James Pletcher. He was hit in the right leg.

The gunfire started after a policeman tried to pull the driver from the car. The man clung to the wheel.

"You bastards leave me alone!" he growled. More policemen and National Guardsmen rushed up.

Five men, meanwhile, were fighting a $100,000 fire at a dance hall and skating rink.

"OPEN FIRE"
Suddenly the car lurched, jerking the policeman off balance. "Stop that car!" came a shouted command as policemen dived out of the car's path.

"Shoot! Open fire!" Shooting halted the car.

As gunfire died, a car door opened and the 4-year-old boy tumbled out into a policeman's arms.

The driver escaped injury, police said. He was taken into custody.

Police said the dance hall and skating rink, in the same building, apparently were set afire.

Four policemen were hurt when two police cars collided en route to the fire.

Police said there was widely scattered and sporadic vandalism and repeated throwing of fire bombs — made with bottles of gasoline — in the area, where ruined stores still smoked from fires set Tuesday night. The death toll in the rioting remained at two.

Guardsmen patrolled in jeeps and on foot and sealed off the Negro section to traffic. Nearly 2,000 of the combat-ready troops were called in.

There was continued looting and rock throwing after Mayor Ralph S. Locher's statement that "We are going to restore order."

Captured Pilots Get New Label

U.S. Wants It
Clear They Are Prisoners Of War

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. Command today changed its terminology for pilots held in North Viet Nam in an apparent move to discredit Hanoi's efforts to label them war criminals.

Pilots and other military prisoners will be officially listed as "captured or interned," the command said. For more than a year they have been listed as "detained."

The change was announced in a "memorandum to the press." Some 45 Americans have been listed as held by the north, almost all of them pilots.

U.S. officials in Washington evidently felt that the word "detained" weakened the American contention that the captives were entitled to full protection as war prisoners under the 1949 Geneva Convention.

The memorandum said "because the terminology 'captured or interned' more properly describes the status of U.S. prisoners of war in Viet Nam, the reporting method is being modified to return to the original system. United States military personnel who are reported missing in Viet Nam and are believed to be held by enemy or hostile forces will be carried as 'captured or interned'."

The memorandum said the change to "detained" was made in 1964 when Congress amended the U.S. Missing Persons Act and "created the category of 'detained' for the reporting of U.S. military personnel who were being held against their will in any foreign country. At that time the Department of Defense adopted the phrase with respect to U.S. military personnel in Viet Nam."

Union Camp Plant Sale Is Announced

Ex-Twin Cities Container
Men Take Over

Sale of the Union Camp Paper Corp. plant in Benton Harbor to Quality Packaging Products, Inc., was announced today.

Quality Packaging is a new company with Irving Flamm and George Wiesemes as top executives and holders of all the stock. Both are former officials of Twin Cities Container Corp. of Colorado.

The new owners are scheduled to take over the Benton Harbor plant and its equipment next Wednesday and start a converting sheet operation in which corrugated paper board is turned into containers.

Union Camp stopped production here last December. The corporation was under a Federal Trade Commission order to sell the Benton Harbor plant by August, 1967, to comply with the terms in a settlement of an antitrust suit.

TELLS PRODUCTS
Flamm said the new company will produce packages for industrial and food products. Employment is expected to total about 40 workers in three to four months.

Wiesemes was technical director at Twin Cities Container for 13 years. He resides at Sister Lakes. A native of Benton Harbor, Flamm lives at 1976 Elm terrace in Fairplain. He had been manager of the produce packaging division of Twin Cities Container for almost five years.

Sale terms were not disclosed by the buyers or seller, but a source close to the industry indicated the price was in excess of $500,000.

The Britain avenue plant, between Colfax and Riverview drive was built in 1960. Union Camp came into the production of corrugated boxes here through a series of mergers. The original firm, Lakeland Container, was organized in 1956. Lakeland Container merged in 1959 with River Raisin Paper Co. which became part of Union Camp a year later.

CHANGED NAME
Union Camp changed its name from Union Bag-Camp last April. It is one of the nation's largest paper firms.

The FTC ruling issued in February, 1965, directed Union Camp to sell six plants it had acquired through merger. The FTC charged the acquisitions lessened competition and tended to create a monopoly.

Union Camp agreed to comply with the directive to avoid a prolonged legal battle. However, it was the company's opinion that there was no violation of the antitrust laws when the Benton Harbor unit and other plants were obtained.

Another larger paper company, Mead Corp., was ordered to dispose of seven plants at the same time the directive was issued to Union Camp.

Flights For Stranded
Servicemen
Military personnel stranded in this area for lack of air transportation should contact the Air Terminal at Wright-Patterson Air Force base, Dayton, Ohio, for rides, according to Benton Harbor Marine Recruiter Gunner Sgt. Bryce Lee.

He said Wright-Patterson personnel will put them on a transport list or advise them when they can board Military Air Transport Service planes at the Dayton base.

There is no charge for military personnel of any of the services.

Sgt. Lee said many servicemen are "hung up" throughout the area because of the airlines strike. MATS has scheduled extra flights to meet this need.

For the benefit of servicemen on emergency or combat leave from Viet Nam, the sergeant has a list of places they can obtain transportation to their parent unit.

Wildcat Walkout At Bendix

Only Foundry
Workers Involved

Foundry workers of the Lakeshore division of Bendix Corp. refused to work today but machine shop employees reported to their regular jobs this morning.

About 100 foundry workers milled around outside the plant gates in an apparent wildcat strike but 300 machine shop workers reported to work on schedule. All are members of Local 363, United Auto Workers.

An accumulation of grievances was listed unofficially as the cause of the walkout.

The contract covering Bendix workers does not expire until April, 1968.

A sign placed by a parked automobile reading, "On Strike, Bendix Unfair to Labor" was the only indication of the strike later this morning.

At first pickets were thrown up at 5:30 a.m. but withdrawn at 7 a.m. when the machine shop crew filed in.

COMPANY REACTION
Company officials said they had no official notice of the strike and no plans for talks.

The fact that machine shop workers reported for work while the foundrymen were out broke a 13-year pattern in the local.

Bendix has about 550 persons employed in its Lakeshore division plant, spread over three shifts.

Last Sept. 9 there was a walkout that lasted about a week as workers left their jobs in protest of what they considered lack of progress in resolving.

Hot Words Fly In Airline Strike Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The thunderhead of a complete breakdown threatened airline strike talks today, heightening speculation that President Johnson will step in.

"The hell with this thing!" snapped Vice President Joseph W. Ramsey of the striking AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists. "I don't know if we'll ever be back!"

An equally irked William J. Curtin, chief negotiator for the five strikebound airlines, said no tentative contract offer will be made for the union to present for a vote of its 35,000 strikers.

Both sides showed up today for a resumption of their talks. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz said such a union vote would be pointless and a farce without agreement between the top negotiators.

The verbal storm clouds over the talks meant the two-week strike against Trans World,

Eastern, National, Northwest and United airlines could extend to at least a month.

The union's walkout threat defied Johnson's plea for round-the-clock negotiations until a settlement is reached.

LBJ MAY STEP IN
Johnson's only alternative appeared to be to call the negotiators into the White House for marathon sessions as he successfully did to settle steel and railroad talks in the past.

"We have no legal remedies left to us in the government," Johnson said at his news conference Wednesday.

He appeared to rule out any special emergency law such as Congress whipped out to stave off a threatened rail strike in 1963.

Spiritual, Legal Counsel For Speck

Insanity Plea Considered
By Public Defender

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, who is accused of slaughtering eight student nurses, was formally charged with murder Wednesday and conferred with his lawyer and a minister.

The Rev. David Peterson, 30, a Lutheran minister, spent 20 minutes with Speck in the City Jail Hospital and told newsmen: "He is concerned about his relationship with God. I think that primarily was the reason he saw me. It was a very personal conversation."

The Rev. Mr. Peterson, pastor of the Irving Park Lutheran Church of Chicago, said Speck asked him to visit again today. The minister said he would if jail authorities agree.

Speck, an itinerant seaman and divorcee with a long arrest record in Dallas, Tex., was formally charged with murder and the hearing was continued to July 28.

REQUESTED BY SPECK
The call for a minister was the first request made by Speck since he was carried into the Cook County Hospital emergency room early Sunday, bleeding from self-inflicted slashes to his arms and reeking from alcohol.

He was later transferred to the City Jail Hospital.

Speck, 24, had been named by Police Supt. O. W. Wilson Saturday as the person who methodically took the eight nurses, one-by-one, into rooms of their townhouse residence and

They'll Work To Pay For Their 'Fun'

Three Stevensville area boys will be working on a pig farm for the next few days, to pay for 16 baby pigs that were trampled to death when a pig herd was chased around in its pen.

Franklyn Mundt, Glenford road, Lincoln township, told deputies he has lost more than 50 baby pigs so far this summer. Youths get into the pens and the pigs panic. The little ones are trampled when the older ones are chased, he said.

Mundt caught two 13-year-olds and an 11-year-old in the pens early this week. One fled on his bicycle but the other two ran on foot, leaving their bikes behind. All three were located, Deputy Ronald Scholten said, and will be working for Mundt until restitution is made for the 16 that died this week.

Mundt valued the piglets at $10 each.

Crime Publicity Screening

A recent decision by the U.S. Supreme Court freeing Dr. Sam Shepard, of Cleveland, for either a re-trial on the charge of murdering his wife 11 years ago or being turned loose was one of the more sensible rulings on criminal procedure in recent years.

The trial at Cleveland was conducted under circumstances similar to those of the martyred Christians being fed to the lions. Even the most severe critics of the Court's recent opinions on handcuffing the enforcement authorities had to agree that Shepard was run through a publicity crank which squeezed out any semblance of a fair, dignified hearing.

The decision actually stated nothing new. Its principles were enunciated on many prior occasions by the state and federal courts.

The extent to which the Justices detailed the many and varied things the Cleveland authorities and news media did wrong is what gives the ruling its prominence.

The arrest of Richard Speck, a young drifter, in the connection with the murder of eight Chicago trainee nurses presents an interesting view in the application of the Shepard doctrine.

The sordid crime has no equal in its brutal senselessness. One would have to read some of the seamier annals from Vietnam, Korea and World War II to find a parallel in vicious behavior.

The mass murder came to light on early Thursday morning, July 14th. It happened late in the preceding evening.

Fortunately for herself and the cause of prosecuting crime, Corazon Amurao, a young Filipino trainee, escaped the fate of her eight student friends by hiding under a bed in the dormitory where the crime took place.

She was able to give the police a description of the assailant. Between that identification and a check of fingerprints scattered throughout the premises, the police pinpointed Speck as the suspect, and by the following Sunday had him under house arrest in the Cook County infirmary.

The arrest itself was fortuitous.

Speck was sent to the infirmary after the night clerk in a West Madison street flophouse discovered him in his room badly bleeding from self inflicted cuts on his wrists.

The doctor on duty at the infirmary in wiping up that mess found tattoo markings, another identifying mark on Speck. From that discovery followed a police guard about the premises.

The infirmary's superintendent, acting on the state's attorney's advice, pointedly refused any interrogation by the police until such time as Speck can be released.

As this is written, the medical staff has prolonged Speck's immunity upon a diagnosis of a break in his heart.

On Tuesday, however, Miss Amurao was spirited into Speck's hospital room for a positive identification. The news dispatches state that because of his unconscious or semi-conscious condition resulting from the heart condition, Speck gave no sign of recognizing her.

All this, plus reams of material on Speck's life history, has been written and re-written at great length.

Even given the benefit of the public's tendency to forget, it is doubtful if the case will fade completely from memory at such time Speck may go to trial.

In a technical sense the authorities have followed the Shepard rule to the T.

News of the case, a matter in which the public has a definite interest, has been stated fully.

Nor has any coercive measure, even mental, been applied against the suspect.

So far as we know, neither had any news media screamed for the man's hide as happened in the Cleveland papers.

In short, every legal amenity has been followed to the letter.

Assuming Speck eventually goes on trial and is found guilty, will an appeal, citing the Shepard case as precedent, upset the verdict?

We would hope not, but only time will tell if a future hindsight judgment will throw more sand in the legal machinery.

This Is Socialism

Nationalization of basic industry under a democratic form of government is a step that should be taken only after due deliberation and in response to the expressed desires of a majority of the people. That is the procedure that was followed in Great Britain and should be pursued in the United States, if it is the majority wish of the electorate that the operation of industry become a government responsibility.

At present, there is a plan to expand government operation in the electric industry that could end in nationalization of electric power in this country. The plan consists of several bills now before Congress to provide for large scale supplemental financing of rural electric cooperatives.

If enacted, they would continue the 2 per cent subsidized loan program for co-ops; create within the U.S. Treasury a special account to receive funds repaid by REA borrowers, instead of being available as now for general treasury purposes, these funds would henceforth be earmarked for new loans to the co-ops; create a federal electric bank within the Department of Agriculture, which in a few years would make nearly $10 billion available for REA loans in addition to the annual funds appropriated by Congress for 2 per cent loans; exempt income of the bank from federal and state income taxes; designate the Rural Electrification Administrator as Governor of the bank; give vast additional discretionary powers to the REA Administrator (as Governor of the bank).

On top of all this, the co-ops would be free of the public regulation which governs the investor owned electric industry.

The plan to expand the REA has nothing to do with rural electrification—that has been virtually completed. Its ultimate goal is nationalization of a basic American industry, an industry that has demonstrated its capacity to meet all needs for electric power. This is socialism and socialism is a form of government that has heretofore been unacceptable to the American people.

Cash And Coincidence

On May 24 August A. Busch and other executives of the Anheuser-Busch Co. and their wives contributed a total of $10,000 to the President's Club, a Democratic fund raising organization.

On June 17 the Department of Justice dropped a civil antitrust suit seeking to compel Anheuser-Busch to divest itself of a maling plant it had acquired in Wisconsin.

This sequence of events, disclosed by Republican congressmen, is one of those coincidences which abound in Washington and it suggests again the need for drastic reforms in campaign fund-raising.

The most conspicuous of the political shakedowns are the endless breakfasts, lunches, dinners, cocktail parties and outings which contractors and corporations looking for favors from politicians are invited to attend at up to $1,000 a ticket. For these and other political occasions, such as party conventions, there is the inevitable souvenir program, in which advertisements are sold at thousands of dollars a page.

Widespread criticism of the program racket prompted a recent amendment to the federal tax laws, which provides that such advertisements are no longer deductible as a business expense.

If public accounting of receipts and expenditures is good for candidates for federal office, it is equally good for state and local candidates, and for the political machines at every level of government which get the money.

DISPUTES CAVANAGH

As a citizen of Detroit who is ashamed of Mayor Cavanagh's performance, I would like to present the other side of the coin.

Our absent minded mayor seems to be spoiling for a debate. I would be glad to accommodate him. I will debate Mr. Cavanagh at any reasonable time or place of his choosing, providing it is before the primary election.

It would be a waste of the public's time to engage in discussion of national or international issues of which the mayor has already demonstrated he knows little or nothing. However, as a Detroit citizen who has been victimized by Cavanagh's votes-blocking officials, I would like to debate the mayor on the practices of his administration.

I would debate the mayor, specifically, on his administration's denial of the Detroit taxpayers' charter right to petition and to vote. I would debate him on his part in the conspiracy to defraud the Detroit taxpayers and voters of their legal right to petition and vote at a referendum. It is known in Detroit that Mr. Cavanagh's officials blocked and illegally denied the taxpayers right to a petition and a vote on a controversial income tax law.

I would question the mayor on whether he intends to take along any certain officials with him to Washington, if elected. This reference is to Cavanagh's political advisors who manufactured the conspiracy to steal the voting rights of Detroit's taxpayers.

I would appear alone to debate, but the mayor should bring with him a dozen of his assistants, campaign advisors and legal experts. We'd like to get all the answers. All I ask is that an impartial moderator be appointed.

Mr. Cavanagh should bone up on two things before the debate. One: why did his officials betray their public trust by blocking and denying the Detroit taxpayers their charter right to petition and to vote? The other: why did he make the newspaper statements there was little or no opposition to income tax in Detroit when his own officials had blocked and stolen the charter right of the taxpayers to vote on the tax?

The low wage and low income groups in Detroit have nothing for which to thank Mr. Cavanagh. He loaded them with higher income taxes and then allowed his political pals to block and steal the right to a petition and a vote on the matter.

It is an insult to taxpayers of Detroit and the state for Mr. Cavanagh to run for higher office without an explanation of his part in the city hall conspiracy which illegally denied voting rights to Detroiters.

At Cavanagh's last election he refused to debate or face the questions. It's time he answered those questions. Now he is asking for your vote. When it suited his purpose the Detroit citizens vote was blocked and the right to vote stolen from them.

If Mr. Cavanagh comes your way again, ask him some questions about his political pals in Detroit city hall. The answers should be interesting.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Casey Stengel, when he was striving to make the Mets at least look like a big league team, always stressed the necessity for concentration. He told of one day when Babe Herman was playing first base for the Dodgers and Casey was coaching for the Boston Braves. Casey suddenly went into an Indian war dance in the coach's box. The Babe turned his head to watch the show delightedly — while a ground ball rocketed past first base for a triple. At the inning's end, Dodger manager Wilbert Robinson growled, "For Pete's sake, Herman, don't pay no attention to the clown Stengel. Keep your eye on the ball. Concentrate."

Babe Herman swore he'd never look at Stengel again.

A few innings later, Casey now standing immobile temporarily, was startled to hear Babe Herman whisper from his first base position, "Hey, Case! Do that Indian war dance again, will ya?"

speaking of YOUR HEALTH

By Lester L. Coleman, M. D.

For the past year I find that I wake each morning with a tremendous sense of fatigue even after a good night's sleep. I find that I am barely able to get through the day's chores of running a home with two active children.

Since I have no physical ailments I am beginning to feel that my family's suggestion that this is all psychological may be correct. Are there any hidden causes for fatigue?

Mrs. R. L., Dr. Coleman
Pennsylvania

Dear Mrs. L.: Running a home with its multiple obligations can be taxing physically and emotionally. Yet, many people carry on these obligations even though their stamina seems inadequate.

Forcing oneself to expend the additional energy only tends to emphasize the fatigue. The easy way out is for your family to accuse you of being a "Psychosomatic Personality."

Actually, I believe that this does you a great injustice. Before any illness is attributed to emotions and stress, every conceivable test must first rule out the absence of organic or physical illness.

Chronic fatigue is a symptom, a very important symptom, that must not be overlooked or casually disregarded. Even though none of these apply to you let me just name a few conditions in which tiredness is predominant.

Chronic infections, hormone imbalance, overactive thyroids, underactive thyroids, vitamin deficiencies, diabetes, kidney and liver diseases are only a few of the conditions that may be responsible for fatigue.

Low blood pressure, low blood sugar, menstrual disorders and menopause must also be ruled out in all cases of fatigue that does not respond to sufficient rest. Only after all tests have been shown to be negative should a psychological basis for your condition be considered.

The unusual amount of energy that it takes to run a home, care for a husband and children, do the chores and still be the charming mother and wife at the end of the day is limitless. Only those who carry on these obligations can understand your right to be as exhausted as you seem to be.

My husband has been warned that he must stop drinking any alcohol because he has cirrhosis of the liver. Why is this so dangerous?

Mrs. T.A.A., Georgia

Dear Mrs. A.: When alcohol in any form is taken in large quantities over a long period of time it can produce changes in the delicate structure of the liver. The normal healthy tissue becomes replaced by dense, fibrous tissue which then seriously impairs the liver's function. Waste products accumulate in the blood and overwhelm the body with their toxic effects.

The warning to stop drinking alcohol must not be taken lightly if your husband values his health and the happiness of his family.

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

There are hands in which you deliberately lose a trick you don't have to lose in exchange for a trick you do have to lose, the result of which is that you pick up a trick in the process.

This two-for-one exchange is certainly a worthwhile transaction when you can arrange it. Here is an example of how the deed is done.

Let's say you're in four hearts and West leads the jack of diamonds. When you finesse the queen, it loses to the king and back comes a diamond which you take with the ace.

It now looks as though you might have to lose two diamonds and two spades to go down one, but naturally you start to look for ways and means of saving a trick. It does seem that there should be some way of utilizing the Q-J of clubs, and that is exactly what you try to do to save the contract.

At trick three you play a club to the ace and follow with a heart to the nine. You then play the queen of clubs. As it happens, East follows low, so you discard a diamond on the queen, which West wins with the king.

The effect of this play is that you lose while substituting a diamond for it which you did have to lose. You could call this simply an exchange of tricks if you wanted to, but actually, you gain one trick on the transaction. In the course of the exchange, the jack of clubs became a trick, and this manufactured trick enables you to discard a spade later on the jack and thus hold yourself to three losers.

Note that it would have made no difference if East had been the player with the king of clubs. In that case, you would have trapped the king to gain the extra club trick.

BORN TODAY

Born in Oak Park, Ill., in 1898, Ernest Hemingway, affectionately known as "Papa" to close friends, has probably influenced more modern writers than any other American novelist, excepting perhaps John Dos Passos and William Faulkner.

He gained his first fame with the successful novel, "The Sun Also Rises," written in Paris and evolved from his association with the "lost generation" of American expatriates in Europe during the 1920's. In "A Farewell to Arms," Hemingway drew upon his service as an ambulance driver with the Italian infantry in World War I; in "For Whom the Bell Tolls," his experiences as press

Narrators Named For Spectacular

Devereaux, Molloy
To Aid Drama For
B.H. Centennial

The first of six narrators for "Chips Fell in the Valley" have been selected by Wanda Rodgers Rockhold, producer and director of the Benton Harbor Centennial spectacular, which will be presented at Filstrup Field Aug. 9, 10, 11 and 12, at 8:30 p.m.

William Devereaux, speech instructor at Lake Michigan college, and Phil Molloy, personnel manager at Benton Harbor Malleable Industries, will lend much to the atmosphere of the historical pageant. Both are graduates of Michigan State university and both have participated often in Twin City Player productions.

Devereaux has a rich theatrical background. He appeared in many productions while attending Michigan State. He performed the part of the son in "Life With Father" in the 100th play produced in Lansing by the Lansing Civic Players. He was one of the organizers of the Little Theatre in Williamsport, in which he directed and acted. He has performed with the Paw Paw Lake Playhouse and recently has directed all of the plays given by Lake Michigan college.

Devereaux and his wife Lilian, who reside at 1080 Sylvan drive, Benton Harbor, have four children, Karen, Tom, Jim and Mary Kay.

Molloy was formerly program director for radio station WHEB. Besides a full schedule, he finds time to actively participate in politics, serving as Republican chairman of the Fourth Congressional district.

He and his wife, Virginia, have four children, Lawrence, who is serving in the Air Force, Patricia, Michael, and Elizabeth, at home, 2906 Thayer drive, St. Joseph.

Mrs. Rockhold said Molloy's and Devereaux's clarity of diction and enthusiasm for the script "assure me the audience will truly enjoy every minute of the spectacular."

Benton Twp. Trash Bid Misquoted

A typographical error in this newspaper yesterday resulted in misquoting of a bid opened by the Benton township trustees at their board meeting Tuesday.

The bid of Ace Refuse Disposal of Coloma for trash collection service to Benton township was reported yesterday as $1.13 per stop per month. The correct bid figure for Ace was $1.35 per stop per month.

Trustees awarded the hauling and disposal contract to the higher of two bidders for the township-administered service, now being organized.

Builders Advised On New Law

Fill Out But Don't
Send Applications

Home builders, modernizers and salesmen have been advised to fill out their applications for licensing under the Builders License law and hold them until Aug. 15.

"Bulletin," a publication of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers association, advises members to suggest to customers builders that they follow that procedure.

It is suggested as a "preferable alternative" to filing the applications now with bond or fingerprints. The bonding and fingerprinting section of the law, P.A. 303, have yet to be defined.

BULLETIN ARTICLE

"... Obtain and complete your application form," says the publication, "have ready the proper credit report and financial statement, plus the license fee, and hold it until at least Aug. 15."

"By so doing, you may be able to come closer to having the filing be in order, relative to changes that may be finalized by that time. By having your material all ready, but holding off on the mailing, you are in a position to comply in advance of Sept. 1 and still adjust your application to reflect any changes that may be necessary."

Sept. 1 is the deadline for filing applications.

Hearings on the law July 7 in Lansing have led to the probability of further amendments, the association says. The amendments will be turned over to the Joint Legislative Rules Committee which proposes to hold hearings on them in various parts of the state.

AWAIT CLARIFICATION

"As you can see," says the "Bulletin" article, "it is going to be well along toward the Sept. 1 deadline before official definition of rules and regulatory requirements will be available."

Builders who wish to obtain application forms can do so by writing to: Department of Licensing and Regulation, Box 398, Lansing, Mich. 48904. The request for forms should indicate whether the applicant is a sole owner, partnership or corporation and whether a builder or modernizer, and how many salesmen.

Builders who have completed the applications and wish to submit them can do so at the above address. It is not necessary to send any bond or fingerprints, but a letter should be attached indicating willingness to do so if it is required. Also, the three-year fee should accompany the application and letter: $35 for builders, $30 for modernizers and $25 for each salesman.

Four-Way Access At East Main

Going To Lansing
With Advisory Group On Aug. 5

Benton Harbor market board and advisory committeemen will go to Lansing Aug. 5 to ask the State Highway Department to convert the East Main street - 194 interchange into a full, four-way interchange for the benefit of new market traffic.

A full interchange is a necessity for growers and shippers who will be trucking produce to and from the Twin Cities airport site of the relocated market, according to City Manager Donald Stewart.

The interchange presently does not permit eastbound expressway traffic to enter the city. Ninety per cent of current market traffic enters or exits from the east or south according to a quick survey by Stewart.

JOINT MEETING HELD

He told a joint meeting last night of the new market board and advisory committee that traffic is one of five areas requiring immediate action.

Mayor Wilbert Smith, chairman of the market board, urged as many board and committeemen as possible to attend the session with highway department officials.

Other items requiring fast action if the market is to be relocated from its urban renewal site downtown to a 23-acre site adjoining Ross airfield by next May are:

1. Surveys to determine exactly what growers and buyers want on the new market.
2. A determination of what will be needed by every agency that expects to settle on the new site.
3. A decision on whether to provide space and/or buildings for businesses related to the market, such as produce package and tire dealers.
4. And the setting of new fees for growers and buyers using the market to pay back market revenue bonds that Stewart said could hit $450,000 to $500,000.

MARKET PLANS

Board members and advisory committeemen also reviewed projected new market plans by U.S. Department of Agriculture Marketing Specialist Robert Hoffmann calling for a six-acre trading area flanked by four 300-foot loading platforms and a 300-by-40 foot "buyer" building on a paved 15-acre site.

Heffernan estimated the cost of utilities, 50,000 square yards of paving, the buyer building and loading docks in excess of $410,000.

Stewart reminded board and advisory members that the plans were only a suggestion and a starting point. He "guessed" new market costs at $750,000 to $800,000, of which a maximum of only $200,000 could be paid from urban renewal funds from the local market site.

The market board also granted a Salvation Army request for the $2,000 balance of a $3,000 annual grant for feeding and housing needy migrant families, and voted to pay the National Peach Council $2,500 for national peach advertising and accept repayment later from Michigan Peach Sponsors.

All of the injured said they would seek treatment from doctors and were not taken to hospitals.

Township police ticketed Thomas, charging he made an improper left turn.

LAKESHORE OPENS BIDS ON NEW JUNIOR HIGH

SOAPY, CAVANAGH BATTLE

Africa Injected Into Michigan Campaign

By Associated Press
Africans and American Negroes occupied the attention of Michigan's two would-be Democratic senators Wednesday.

Williams spoke to a Negro group in Detroit, then left for Washington, where he'll discuss Africa today with Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y. And Jerome Cavanagh was in southeast Michigan criticizing Williams' ideas about Africa.

Williams, formerly undersecretary of state for African affairs, planned to return today for a dinner meeting in Detroit. Cavanagh said the United States refused to pledge to help force an end to segregation policies maintained by the Union of South Africa in the mandate territory of Southwest Africa. He said "most experts" believe this U.S. hesitancy caused the International Court of Justice to refuse to order an end to the segregation.

"GUNBOAT MENTALITY"
"This is another case of the same gunboat mentality which dictated our African policy when we sent military aid to Portugal, only to see that equipment used to kill innocent Africans....." Cavanagh said.

"Ex-Gov. Williams.....played an important role in all those decisions," the Detroit mayor said.

He said he had sent Williams a telegram asking him to make public his feelings about the court's action, economic sanctions against South Africa, supplying military aid to Portugal and withdrawal of support for rebels in Angola.

Before leaving for Washington, Williams addressed a mostly-Negro audience of businessmen in Detroit and said the "ghetto vortex" is the American Negro's basic problem.

Lawton Fire Damages Residence

LAWTON — Investigators said they could not immediately determine what started a fire which burned out two rooms and heavily damaged the Herold Pitts home, 322 First street, Thursday morning.

Det. Sgt. Norwood Neiminger of the fire marshal's office, and Earl Lawton, acting fire chief, said they could not determine origin of the blaze which broke out about 9:30 a.m.

Pitts told them he had been painting in the house. He said he left the house briefly, returned for a cup of coffee and went out to the garage when he saw smoke rolling from the house.

The flames, which appeared to start in the kitchen and utility room area, spread swiftly before they were put out by Lawton firemen. Lawton said no loss estimate was made. Pitts said he had insurance on the house.

Pitts is a retired farmer. His wife was working at the Glaser-Crandall Pickle Co., Mattawan, when the fire started.

SURE HARTFORD HAS FAST TRACK

And Being Short Helps, Too

HARTFORD — Is the dirt track at Hartford really the fastest track in the state? Is the track really one-half mile long? "Yes," says M.J. Conklin, co-manager of the Van Buren county youth fair, which starts next Monday, July 25.

For stock cars, the track is a measured half-mile. For this type of racing, the track is measured from the middle of the track around the course.

For harness racing, the track is just a few feet short of a half mile, because for this type of racing the track is measured three feet from the inside rail around the track.

"But," added Conklin, "even after correcting for the difference in length, last year's time on that track was real fast for the half mile."

Fans attending the four nights of harness racing this year can see for themselves how fast the track is. Last year marked the return of racing after a number of years absence, and the exceptional times chalked up by the relatively unknown entries will see some of the best horses in the business, said Conklin.

Over $10,000 in prize money will be awarded during the four nights. As is the policy of the fair, the grandstand will be free for those attending.

CLOWN On the midway, Brownie the Clown will again be roaming the area. Brownie and his dog Jo, always a favorite of young and old, will entertain all six days of the fair.

Every inch a professional, Brownie has traveled the length and breadth of the United States performing in schools, with circuses and thrill shows. He says, "The work of a clown is fascinating and there is no greater satisfaction than in giving people happiness."

This year the "Little Baker with the Big Hat" will again be proving that, as he says "Everybody loves a clown."

FERENCY:

'Romney Lacking Gumption, Guts'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Zolton Ferency, Democratic candidate for governor of Michigan, said Wednesday Republican Gov. George Romney "does not have the gumption or guts" to propose a tax program for Michigan.

After lunching with Democratic House members from Michigan, Ferency, who has no primary opposition, told a news conference Michigan would be in the red in 1967 unless new taxes are imposed.

Every study that has been made, he said, calls for an income tax for the state.

Ferency said he would be in favor of reducing consumer taxes such as those on beer and cigarettes and the business activity tax and make up for these with a state individual and corporate income tax.

He said Romney for two years in a row had spent "more than he took in."

Asked about his chances of winning against Romney, Ferency said "I think I have a chance to win."

He said as state Democratic chairman he is neutral in the contest between G. Mennen Williams, former governor of the state, and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh for the Democratic senatorial nomination to oppose Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

Ferency said he did not come to Washington to get money for his campaign. He was to be the guest of honor at a reception this evening at the Congressional Hotel. He said he met with various federal officials.

Thief Loots Garage Of Flint Police

FLINT (AP)—When somebody copped a case of carburetors last February, the cops quickly recovered the loot and stored it for safekeeping.

Then somebody copped the carburetors from the cops.

City Manager Thomas Kay outlined the story to city commissioners this week.

City police recovered 713 carburetors which were stolen from General Motors Corp.'s Buick division Feb. 19. They stored them in the police garage.

When Buick went to collect them June 3, they discovered 331 carburetors had been stolen again. They filed a claim for $5,148 against the city.

Kay said the incident was "embarrassing."

Box Firm Opens In Dowagiac

Container Service Corporation On Roller Rink Site

DOWAGIAC—A new corrugated box manufacturing company has begun operations in Dowagiac.

Container Service Corporation has leased, with an option to buy, a 13,500 square foot building at 108 Colby street. The building, owned by Ronald Paxton, was formerly used as a roller rink.

Headed by Robert D. Cravens, president of Stevensville; David L. Harrison, vice president, of South Bend; and Floyd Costerisan, secretary-treasurer, of St. Joseph, the new firm will make corrugated boxes for industrial and general packaging.

The firm will employ six persons initially and hopes to expand to 25 or 30 employees within a year.

According to Cravens, Dowagiac was chosen as the site for the new firm because it is a good market for shipping containers in itself and is located in the center of a desirable area of business potential. Company officials plan to serve a 75-mile area.

The firm is remodeling the building. Interior walls are being removed to make more room for production and offices are being constructed. Loading docks are being added for receiving supplies and shipping completed products.

Plane Is Abandoned At Airport

Berrien county sheriff's deputies are searching for a young man who flew a stolen plane to Watervliet airport and left it there.

The plane, an Arconca Champ owned by Richard Ross, route 1, New Carlisle, Ind., was reportedly taken from the Niles airport. Clifford Casey, employee at Watervliet airport, told deputies Wednesday the plane was at Watervliet.

Casey said two youths were in the plane when it landed. He indicated it made a rough landing. The pilot then had it filled with gas, paid for the gas, asked Casey to tie the plane down and left.

The pilot indicated he would be back for the plane, Casey said. Sgt. Don Jewell and Deputy Nigel Krickhahn staked out the airport Wednesday, awaiting return of the pilot, but no one showed up to claim the plane.

Casey described the pilot as 5 foot 8 to 5 foot 10, about 160 pounds, with blond curly hair. He said the pilot was 18 to 22 years old.

120 4-H's Enjoy Week At Camp

Some 120 Berrien county 4-H club members are scheduled to return Saturday from a 15th annual 4-H summer camp on Great Bear Lake near Bloomington in Van Buren county.

Since their arrival last Sunday, campers have been rising at 7 a.m. to take part in games, sports and other activities on the 46-acre site. The grounds include a forest and rifle and archery range, nature trails, and a five-acre baseball field.

Friday will be the biggest night. Awards will be presented to club members showing the greatest amount of spirit and those deserving merit for honor archery, swimming, canoeing, archery and rifle, or crafts.

The campsite is supervised by Phil Clark and about 15 employees. Owned by the Van Buren Youth Camp, Inc., it is leased to Berrien county campers for a week.

Each of the 13 cabins has approximately 8 or 9 club members and a 4-H counselor.

CAMPERS CLEAN UP: Fifteen families of the Wonderland Wanderers chapter of National Campers and Hikers association gathered this pile of litter from one-fourth mile of Lake Michigan beach. Private beach is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alan Tourtellotte of Glenn. Mrs. Tourtellotte said most of the litter left by beach-goers was beer cans and bottles and some bottles were deliberately smashed. Wonderland Wanderers urge all persons using beaches to keep litter cleaned up and take refuse home with them for disposal.

TRI-CAP Granted Operating Funds

Final approval has been given two federal fund grants to the Tri-County Community Action Program (TRI-CAP), according to word received here from Lansing.

Gov. George Romney put his approval on a $52,017 grant for the administration of the TRI-CAP program during the 1965-67 fiscal year, and on a $19,029 grant to set up centers for 600 disadvantaged children.

The $52,000 will cover salaries, office operation costs, travel, equipment, insurance and other administration costs for the first full year of TRI-CAP operation, according to Hervey Higgins, office manager and fiscal officer. The program operated during its first six-month planning and development stage under a previous grant.

The administration fund will not cover the opening of several branch offices planned by the poverty war agency. Separate grants are being sought to set up branches at Niles, Cassopolis and an undetermined location in Van Buren county. Separate grants provide the financing for various programs TRI-Cap has in operation.

Rides Lawn Mower Onto Street--Hit

SOUTH HAVEN—A 22-year-old South Haven man was hospitalized Wednesday evening for treatment of a possible fractured leg after his riding lawn mower was hit by a car on Airport road, state police said.

Trooper said that Rudolph Compton, route 3, South Haven, was hurt after he drove the mower onto the road and was struck by a car driven by Carol Kay Peckstein, 22, 208 Erie, South Haven, around 7 p.m.

Compton was admitted to South Haven Community hospital where his condition was reported fairly good today by hospital personnel.

Lansing Walkout Settled

Strikers Won't Be Discharged

LANSING (AP) — Striking Lansing city workers voted Wednesday night to accept a contract including a 3-cent-an-hour wage boost and end their three-day walkout.

About 250 city workers struck Monday, despite a threat of dismissal under the state's no-strike law for public employees.

Jerry Wurf, international president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, said the settlement provided that none of the strikers would be dismissed.

The strikers were to return today to their jobs with the public service, parks, traffic and civic center departments.

Earlier Wednesday two Ingham County circuit judges issued an order prohibiting the union and its members from fully staying off the job. In addition, the city had declared any worker not on the job today would be dismissed.

NOT RECEIVED

Wurf said none of the union officers had received copies of the order.

"We would not have negotiated if we had not been served with the papers," he said.

Under the settlement, Wurf said, the city agreed to drop the injunction and a $600,000 damage suit against the union. He said the union agreed to drop unfair labor practice charges against the city.

"The basic problem — the refusal of the city to negotiate on gut issues — has been eliminated," Wurf said. "A fair and honorable contract has been worked out."

CONTRACT DETAILS

He said the contract provides an across-the-board pay raise of three cents an hour for about 400 workers currently averaging around $2.50 an hour. He said the raise was retroactive to July 1, when the city voluntarily gave city employees a 4 per cent raise.

The one-year contract also provided grievance procedures and improved sick-leave, Wurf said.

Five city employees were dismissed last Friday for taking the "mediation break." Under the settlement, Wurf said, they will be reinstated with no mention in their records of the dismissal.

Roast, Chair Fires Are Extinguished

Benton Harbor firemen were called to an apartment occupied by Earl Pewitt at 190½ Pipe-stone street at 2:35 a.m. today where a chair had caught on fire.

Firemen said the blaze was easily extinguished and there was no damage except to the chair. They attributed the blaze to careless smoking.

Neighbors reported a smoke coming from the Johnnie Jenkins home, 663 McGuigan avenue, Benton Harbor, yesterday. City firemen found a roast on the kitchen stove had boiled dry and started burning, igniting kitchen cupboards above the stove.

The firemen carried the roast outside, extinguished the cupboard fire and then cleared the house of smoke.

Firemen also cleared smoke from the Tom Davis home, 973 LaVette street, yesterday, after an oven began smoking. There was no fire, but slight smoke damage to the house resulted, firemen said.

Notices to stop burning garbage in trash burners were left at 466 Maple street and 469 Cherry street by fire inspectors yesterday. The action was taken when residents of the area complained of the odor.

WEEKEND GUEST GANGES—Mrs. Lucy Bremer

of Eastmanville was the guest last weekend in the home of her son and family Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stemler.

David Grier Gets Old Post Back

SOUTH HAVEN—Members of the area redevelopment commission last night unanimously elected David Grier to his old job as commission chairman.

Grier, who served as original chairman, left the commission in 1965 when elected alderman from the third ward. Since recently moving out of his ward, however, Grier had to resign from the council. He was reappointed to the redevelopment commission and last night was voted right back into the chairman's seat.

He succeeds Ronald LaFontaine, who resigned from the commission when he accepted a new job in Lansing.

Members reviewed bids from five firms interested in doing a second land acquisition appraisal as part of the proposed urban renewal project in the central business district. Urban Renewal Director Fred Timmer was authorized to request bids on a parcel basis from the two lowest bidding companies, Ralph Wenger and Co., Grand Rapids, and North Central Appraisals of South Bend, Ind.

Timmer reported that early estimates of local resale value of property after clearance, ranging from $6 to $8 a square foot, have been found to be "unrealistic" and that new appraisals should be made. Timmer said he had talked with developers and other urban renewal directors and was sure that developers would not be interested in property at this price in South Haven.

Paw Paw 'Trades' Teachers

PAW PAW—The Paw Paw school board last night received the resignation of one teacher, hired another, accepted two bids, and adjusted the salaries of driving instructors.

James Narreagan, high school chemistry and general science teacher, resigned from that position to enter the U.S. Army. In his letter, he told the board he felt this was necessary "because of the present situation" the United States is in.

The board approved the recommendation of superintendent Dan McConnell to hire Miss Janet Ann Starlin of Delroy, Ohio, as junior high school English teacher. Miss Starlin is a 1966 graduate of Kent State University, in Ohio.

The low bid of Frank Gamby of New Richmond was accepted for painting the interior of the Cedar Street School. Gamby's bid of $4,500 was $400 less than that of the next highest bidder.

The board also approved the installation of air conditioning equipment for the administrative section of the high school. LaPine Sheet Metal company of Paw Paw was the approved contractor, with a bid of $1,950 plus about $200 wiring expense.

Payment for driver education teachers was set at $3.50 per hour for road instruction and $4 per hour for classroom instruction. This is a slight raise, to bring the Paw Paw salaries in line with other schools in the area.

A donation of $300 to the Kalamazoo Child Guidance clinic was approved.

The board received a letter from Charles Hayes, of Reed and Hayes Buick, requesting that the board consider one of his autos as a driver instruction car.

Board president William Cutting reviewed the history of driver education cars in the Paw Paw schools, noting that the present supplier of cars, Tapper Oldsmobile, has been furnishing cars to the schools at no cost for the past several years, while other dealers showed no interest in following suit.

The board, after discussion, adopted a motion to continue the system as it is at present, with the exception that when driver education cars are used for non-school events by non-school persons, the "Paw Paw High School" be deleted from the wording on the sides of the cars.

Cutting appointed Luther Daines as a delegate and Robert Abrams as an alternate to the annual meeting of the Michigan Association of School Boards to be held in Grand Rapids in November.

Bills amounting to $4,534.35 were approved for payment.

Convicted Killer Wants New Trial

PONTIAC (AP)—Harry M. Belcher will go before Oakland County Circuit Judge Philip Pratt Monday to request a new trial, his attorney, Gerald Barry, said Wednesday.

Belcher is presently serving a life sentence for the January, 1965, fire which killed his wife and six children while they slept in their Ferndale home.

According to Barry, the main reason for the new trial is the testimony of Sgt. Russell Lemagay who said that the fire definitely started in the basement stairway and that it was intentional. Barry is contesting the prosecution's assertion that the fire marshal is an expert in fire detection.
